

GEORGE C. MARSHALL

'The great one of the age'

George C. Marshall gave his country selfless service, steadfast character, dignity, compassion and leadership that shaped nearly every major event in the first half of the "American Century" from World War I into the Cold War. The wisdom of his actions has preserved the peace in Europe since the end of World War II. He was, as President Harry Truman described, "the great one of the age."

2011 Annual Fund Campaign

We share his example so others can aspire to his greatness. Drawing on vast resources in our library, archives, and museum, we translate the lessons of the past for those who will shape the future. We keep Marshall alive and relevant to the challenges we face today.

Executives and emerging leaders learn through our leader development programs. Undergraduate and graduate scholars study the history of Marshall's time. International programs promote the strengths of capitalism and freedom. Our programs touch the lives and careers of thousands of individuals each year.

Your contribution will provide funding for all these programs that are so necessary to sustaining Marshall's legacy. Please donate to our Annual Fund to help us preserve, protect and promote the example of George Marshall.
